BEHELDER

Wondrous Item | Uncommon

The behelder can be activated by opening the lid at its top, causing an eyestalk to rise out of it, which can be extended for up to 10 feet.

While activated, the eye captures everything it can see within 120 feet of it, of which it stores the last 24 hours.

While the behelder is not activated, everything stored within it can be played back, appearing as a scaled down illusion in a 12-foot-diameter sphere above it. The illusion can be played faster or be reversed by adjusting the sliders at the side of the box.

All stored illusions are erased if the box is put within an antimagic field, or if it is the subject of a dispel magic spell.
